RINKET

The Children's Beverage
MADE IN THE CUP

Drinket, the new and most delicious food comes very close to coffee in appearance, flavor and aroma. Its coffee-like flavor is developed entirely by the Kellogg method.

Unlike coffee substitutes, Drinket contains no molasses, which is the reason its flavor is so enjoyable.

DIRECTIONS TO SERVE

Make in the cup—use from a half to a level teaspoonful. Add boiling hot water and stir until dissolved. Add sugar and cream to suit taste.

For cold Drinket make same as above. If desired cold, pour over cracked ice.

HEARD AT THE CRIME CLUB

By FRANK FOERST

III.—THE REDHAIRED PICKPOCKET

He spoke in a quiet, conversational tone, but Jimmie jerked his head back as though to avoid a blow.

"Well, Jimmie," said Whipple, persuasively.

Jimmie ran a hand through his disheveled red hair. Then he shook himself as though trying to throw off the thoughts that possessed him. "See here, boss," he cried in an impulsive burst.

"I'll put you wise to the whole thing, you won't believe me anyway, but it's the solemn truth, so help me. The bulls, they wouldn't give me justice in New York, so I chased myself over here where I've got one or two chums."

"Four-fingered Foster," knickered Whipple absently. His thoughts were still away from Jimmie, but he was nevertheless keenly following every word.

"Has he followed you?" Jimmie asked. "Well, on the boat I got some chances, but I held myself in. There's been a central office man to see me, but I didn't know him, and what he might have passed the word. I cut out the funny business till I got across, but I marked out one or two likely fellows, twenty among them, of course. I steered clear of them on the ship, didn't talk to 'em or shift over to the boat train, and I noticed two—much—uh—understand. When we shifted over to the boat train at Liverpool, I saw one of 'em, and I lifted his leather from him—I admit that, boss—just as we reached London."

"You picked up a leather?" Jimmie asked. "Yes, his pocketbook. Then I went on to my hotel and sorted out the stuff. Some of them police they took off me, then they brought me in was among them. Then there was a lot of letters."

"A lot of letters?" Jimmie asked. "A lot of letters, boss. I crossed Jimmie's face. 'What do you think? Burn 'em, Jimmie. Things like that don't talk when you're in there. There was one there, though, that I wish I'd saved now. It was written in ink, it was a letter, and it was from a man, and it was from a man who wrote it at Albert Bridge."

"Wait a minute, don't you remember exactly what it said?" Jimmie asked. "I'm right, boss. I remember it. It was a letter from a man who wrote it at Albert Bridge. It was a letter from a man who wrote it at Albert Bridge. It was a letter from a man who wrote it at Albert Bridge."

"I'm right, boss. I remember it. It was a letter from a man who wrote it at Albert Bridge. It was a letter from a man who wrote it at Albert Bridge. It was a letter from a man who wrote it at Albert Bridge."

DONATION DAY AND RECEPTION

THESE EVENTS ARE TO BE HELD JOINTLY NEXT TUESDAY AT THE DEACONESS HOME.

Other Social Events of Daily Occurrence at the Deaconess Home. Ordinary Interest—Plans for Near-Christmas Festivities.

For the annual reception and donation day of the Deaconess Home at Kirkwood, Tuesday of next week, plans are now being completed. Some very competent committees have been engaged on these for many days and in Tuesday's affair a day of special pleasure is in store for those who visit the home, or who may find it convenient to contribute in any way to its needs.

Mrs. W. B. Hicks, is chairman in charge of the various arrangements and a program, both musical and literary will be given during the hours from 2 until 10 o'clock p. m., during which guests will be received. They will be welcomed by a company of local women interested in the support of the home. Among whom are:

Mrs. W. B. Hicks, W. H. Higgins, Clarence E. Allen, J. B. McClay, R. E. Noy, Harry Beach, G. B. Smith, Crawford Booth.

There are now residing at the home twelve deaconesses, whose work is most worthy and charitable and is extended among the city's poor and needy ones, in settlement work, among the foreign classes, the churches, and instruction is given classes in sewing and cooking and also there are special classes for boys and girls who receive instruction and aid in many different lines through the activity and earnest devotion of the members of this organization. This home is dependent for support on the churches and on the friends of the Deaconess Home. It is set apart this year as the date for the annual donation, when all articles which can be utilized by the home will be received.

Taking part in the program of the afternoon and evening will be:

Mrs. W. C. Eitzler, E. L. Stone, Anna Hilton Otto, Harry Travis, Harry McCona, Harry Dobson, naughey.

Lucille Hicks, Nell Quimby, Dona Neiminger, Kathleen Woods, Mayme Morgan.

Rev. and Mrs. E. H. Bourne, Prof. David Daniels, Master William Griffith.

Bazar and Supper. Extensive arrangements have been made by the Deaconess Home for the bazaar and supper, at their church at 4200 Jacob street on Friday and Saturday nights, November 24, and 25.

It was decided to conduct the affair along the same lines as the last one held, which was a grand success.

Several booths will be attractively arranged about the auditorium from which many pretty and useful articles will be sold.

On Friday evening, lunch will be served in connection with the bazar and on Saturday evening, supper will be served from 5 to 8 o'clock, in the lecture room.

The names of the committees are as follows:

Directing committee—J. F. Martin, Frederick Ebeling and S. A. Martin.

Supper committee—Mrs. Lydia Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Martin.

Fancy booth—Mrs. O. L. Martin and Mrs. Frederick Ebeling.

Table No. 3—Mrs. J. B. Winship, Mrs. J. W. Martin and Mrs. Wensley.

Reception committee—O. L. Martin and O. J. Tary.

Members Entertained. Miss Rose Clark very pleasantly entertained the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Buckeye Methodist Episcopal church yesterday afternoon at her home, No. 82 1/2 Park street, Edgewood. The chief diversions were fancy work and music, at the close of which refreshments were served. Those present were:

Mrs. Bryan, William Eismann, Mrs. Cowan, Mrs. McCowan, T. E. Rice, William Colmar, Mrs. Gable, Mrs. Snider, Harry Myers, Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Libon, Mrs. Albright, Mrs. L. R. Rues, Mrs. Daniels, Mrs. Ransom, Mrs. Kirk, Mrs. Bowman, George Colter, Mrs. Nethings, F. O. Muldrew, W. B. Clark, Misses Bell Linton, Edna Cope, Virginia Cope, and Mrs. Martin, Katherine Rice, Alice Clarke.

Later, in his own office, his stenographer took down to be typed for recording. "I respectfully submit the following: 'The man who wrote the letter, I first gained the impression that it was a letter from a man who wrote it at Albert Bridge. It was a letter from a man who wrote it at Albert Bridge. It was a letter from a man who wrote it at Albert Bridge.'"
